The HOME BEAUTIFUL
Flowers and Shrubbery
Their Care and Cultivation

Pansies.

COLORS IN ANNUALS

By L. M. BENNINGTON.

For summer flowering, annuals are very satisfactory, blooming profusely through the entire season, while the cost of a seed packet is but a trifle.

Good taste dictates the system of planting large bunches of single species together rather than the old way of mixing a dozen varieties in as many square feet.

It is the same plan that places a dozen carnations or roses in a vase rather than the heterogeneous collection in the old-fashioned bouquet. Mass your flowers if you would secure the best effect.

The old calliopsis, "lady's breastpin," they used to call it, is a handsome plant, its long slender stems rendering it extremely useful for cutting, and the shades of gold and brown harmonizing nicely.

A mass of it next to the shrubbery in the background gives a most pleasing effect.

Some handsome forms of single dahlias may be secured by planting a packet of the seeds in pots early in the spring and transplanting the young seedlings to the garden as soon as danger from frost is over.

The colors of some are very fine and to one liking the single flowers the plan is a good one of getting a variety at a small price; but unless started very early these seedlings rarely mature tubers that will keep through the winter, though they commence flowering almost as soon as the plants are started from the tubers.

The chrysanthemum-flowered asters are much more pleasing, both grown in masses and for cutting, than the quilled bouquet sorts. If but two kinds are chosen, let them be lavender and white with rose as a third choice.

When ordering seeds there is a strong temptation to order mixed packets, yet if the very finest specimens are expected, the surer way is to single out one or two of the choicest colors.

These are made up from the best individuals, while the mixed packets are what the name implies, though in many instances highly satisfactory.

With pansies for spring, sweet peas for summer, and asters for autumn, one may be sure of having an abundance of the most beautiful cut-flowers for all occasions.

Water the Gloxinia.

WORK-A-DAY NOTES

By L. M. BENNINGTON.

If the season is a dry one some of the plants in the garden will have to be watered if you want flowers from them. Especially is this true of gloxinia.

Use enough water to penetrate all the soil in which their roots grow, and see that it is kept moist.

Watering today and neglecting for a week to come isn't the proper thing. Save the suds from wash day for this purpose. The snap in the water will benefit the plants.

Be sure to supply substantial supports for your dahlias. If this is not done you will likely find them broken some morning after a sudden wind or a hard rainstorm. The stakes should be at least four feet tall—allow an extra foot and a half for insertion in the ground and they should be at least an inch through, and of good sound wood. Paint them a dull green and they will not be unpleasant.

ly obtrusive. Tie the stalks to them with broad strips of cloth instead of strings. The latter will cut into the tender branches when they are whipped by the wind.

DO NOT OMIT THE SHRUBS

By JULIE ADAMS POWELL.

One corner of my garden shaded from the hot sun is devoted to herbs. If you have never had a herb bed this is a good time to plant one. I am going to add several herbs to mine this year and I give the list of those most useful. In some cases it is best to buy the plants, and such I note.

Three clump plants.
Three clumps of chives.
Two lavender plants.
Six roots of mint.
One package summer savory.
One package thyme.
One package winter savory.
Two plants of tarragon.
One package dill for flavoring.

WHITE WYANDOTTES IN FAVOR

One of the Most Important Things for Beginner Is Selection of Breed—Seven Good Characteristics.

(By JOHN C. LYSTER.)
When a beginner starts a poultry plant, large or small, one of the most important things for him to consider is the breed he wants.

If after eggs only it would be policy for him to select one of the Mediterranean breeds, such as the Leghorn. If he desires to market mature birds he should keep a meat breed like the Cornish or the Brahma. If a general purpose fowl is his aim he must select the White Wyandotte for the following reasons:

First. As layers this breed has proved its superiority to all others, as shown in three recent laying competitions, when the grand average for White Wyandottes was 190 eggs in one year—a far better record than that of the Leghorns or the Reds.

Second. White Wyandotte eggs are large and brown, an advantage that is of great importance in the markets of my vicinity.

Third. The chicks are hardy and grow to broiler size quicker than any other breed, and the fine feathers, being white, do not spoil their appearance when dressed for market, as in the case of Bred Rocks.

White Wyandotte Hen.

Fourth. The White Wyandotte makes a good roaster and a profitable capon. The males will average about eight pounds and the females around five or six pounds.

Fifth. Pullets hatched in April, with proper housing, feeding and attention, will lay late in October, when the egg market is advancing its prices.

Sixth. The small, rose combs of the White Wyandotte are never frosted, thus eliminating a trouble that affects large-combed breeds in cold weather. It is generally recognized that the White Wyandotte continues laying in the coldest months.

Seventh. As mothers the White Wyandottes have no better. They are not continuously broody, but are faithful, careful and attentive when setting or mothering chicks. I have analyzed the White Wyandotte very carefully, and have failed to find any breed that combines these seven characteristic features that make the White Wyandotte a sure money-maker if given proper attention.

RATLESS PENS FOR CHICKENS

Fine Woven Wire Stretched Around Bottom of Coop Keeps Rodents Away, Thereby Saving Chicks.

Last year we had many young chickens caught by rats and eggs taken from under setting hens. This spring we made the rat-proof pens shown in the drawing, writes Mrs. E. P. Rich of Oregon in Missouri Valley Farmer. A one by six inch board was set in the ground to keep the rats from digging under. Then we stretched fine wire netting two feet wide all the way around above the board and from the top of the coop at the back, covering everything with woven wire. The enclosure was partitioned off into pens and the hens were set in the house. We kill rats or mice by spreading a thick coating of calomel on a slice of bread and butter and put where they can find it.

Ratless Pens for Chicks.

Temperature of Brooder.
As the weather becomes warmer you will have to see that the brooder is not too warm for the young chicks. Common sense ought to teach anyone that the heat required for brooding the chicks in cold weather is not required when the weather gets warm, but we often forget these things, to the detriment of the young chicks.

Dry Bran for Chicks.

Dry bran placed before the chicks at the fifth day is a good feed and prepares them for the heavier dry mash which should start around the seventh to tenth day, when the chicks are ready to stand a feed that is heavier in ash and protein.
